FREE!

For the purpose of introducing our valuable Washing Preparation known as the Housewife's Friend, we will send to any address on receipt of two three cent stamps to prepay postage, a Sample package free.

This preparation is unlike any other, it being as harmless as Spring Water. Clothing washed with it will wear longer, as they need no rubbing unless badly soiled. Its effect on hard water is almost magical, making it as soft as rain water. It really costs nothing to use it, as it saves more than its cost in soap and fuel, to say nothing of the time and labor saved. It is hoped that all who have washing to do will avail themselves of the free trial package. We want some reliable person in every town to introduce and keep for sale this really valuable and fast selling article. Address

GENERAL GRANT IN ENGLAND

THE EX-PRESIDENT INTERVIEWED IN LONDON

[illegible]

The conversation took place [illegible] in the house of [illegible] General Grant [illegible] North and the [illegible] Appomattox Court [illegible] South, General Lee, called this broken and starving troops together and [illegible] "Men, we have fought through the war together. I have done the best I could for you. My heart is too full to say more." [illegible] when the first request was made to him that the Southern troops might take away their horses with them to their homes, he yielded [illegible]

[illegible]

And now that you have seen a good deal of England and Englishmen, pray how does it all strike you?"

"Well it would take a long time to tell all that one thinks of England," said General Grant. "In the first place, the country is so beautiful everywhere [illegible] Bath and to Southampton and [illegible] to Richmond and other places [illegible] All the land is cultivated [illegible] Yet of course one cannot but reflect how over-populated the country is. Here you can no longer produce enough food for your own people. In our country we could produce the means of support for five hundred million, and to-day we have only about two million more than England. We might not be able to buy anything which is cut off from the rest of the world, but yet we could get enough out of the ground to live upon. What would England do if any disaster happened to cut her off from the rest of the world in [illegible] manner?"

"Mr. [illegible] the United States [illegible] England could not."

MEXICAN ANNEXATION

"I have never known," said the general, "and I find that every clever man in your English society seems to be thoroughly [illegible] about our country. [illegible] night [illegible] Mexico [illegible] we had kept Mexico after the close of our war with it [illegible] that there was a party in our country which had always opposed the annexation of Mexico, but that the Mexican people would welcome annexation, for it would more than double the value of their property and give them a quiet and secure government."

"The old question is reviving again?"

"Yes, and it will always be coming up [illegible] A clever man, I should think, is Lord Beaconsfield. I thought I should say [illegible] physically. He seems to me a man who could put up with any amount of insult or unpopularity if he were pursuing an end and would patiently wait for the result."

"He has been unpopular enough in his day."

"Perhaps so, but your public men here get fair play. It is different with us; a man has only to be put into a public position to be a mark for every [illegible] the object on almost all sides is to destroy him. There has got to be a great change in that in our country some day."

"And then you have seen the Prince of Wales as well as the great politician."

"Yes, and a very affable and genial man he seems to be. I have had three or four conversations with him, and always found him very pleasant. The Queen has kindly asked me to dine at Windsor on the 26th, and my wife will go with me and I believe we are to stay till the next day."

"You ought to be a great judge on the dinner question now. Don't you think we can dine better as a rule in the United States than here?"

"Well, the dinners are good enough here, but I think they are better in America. Our markets offer a more varied supply of provisions. Here the dinners are nearly the same wherever you go."

"This is partly the fault of the cooks, who persist in sending up the same old dishes year after year."

MUNICIPAL GOVERNMENT

"As for the cities and large towns, I have never seen any so well managed. All that I have been to are governed on sensible principles. Here in London, for instance, you have a lord mayor, who is chosen from the board of aldermen in his turn, and the aldermen are men who take an interest in the welfare of their city. [Here General Grant went over the framework of the city government with great accuracy.] "What a contrast all this presents to the state of affairs in New York! There money raised by taxation has been stolen by wholesale, and now property will not sell for the value of the mortgages that are on it, and I declare I do not see what is to become of the city. The debt is enormous. See how well the paving and lighting are looked after here, and how carefully the traffic is managed. The police, too, seem to be excellent."

"And yet they have quite as hard a set to do with as the police of New York, and a good many more of them."

"No doubt. I have not noticed so many of the poor about London as I expected to see, although I have been down Whitechapel and the Mile-end-road and other places. At Bath the people were most enthusiastic and I was much gratified with their kindness to me. They were very noisy and good-natured, [illegible]"

It is a wonder that the general noticed the latter characteristics, for an American crowd is generally very quiet, never indulging in "horse-play," seldom cheering, and not always good-natured, or at least not demonstratively so. [illegible]

"I hope still to go to Birmingham and Manchester and other large cities, for I am very curious to see them. Then I shall go to Scotland, and be back in London in about two months from now. I cannot speak too warmly of the reception I have everywhere met with. It was quite unlooked for."

"The people of the two countries like each other well enough; it is the writers who have made most of the mischief."

ALABAMA AWARD

"Yes," said the general, "and I think good-feeling has been increasing ever since the settlement of the Alabama claims. I was very glad they were settled, for if they had not been, undoubtedly [illegible] would have arisen out of them [illegible] and the constant anticipation of that would have led to exasperation and ill feeling. I was very glad [illegible] to get the question out of the way."

"But is it not a pity that more money was asked for than can be distributed?"

"That is a mistake," said the ex-President [illegible] the surplus now remaining without [illegible] Congress [illegible] there was a surplus at all. Besides, you must remember that the amount was awarded for injury done to the United States, and no one can doubt that the injury, if fully appraised, would represent a greater sum than that given to us. [illegible] the persons most entitled to it was not so easy a matter, but we sustained damage to the full amount awarded to us by the tribunal—how we shall divide it among the injured persons is another matter [illegible] depend upon it Congress will do what is right about it next session."

[illegible]

And now said the General [illegible] I will have a smoke.

GENERAL KNOX

HIS HOME AND LIFE IN THOMASTON

[illegible] Revolutionary [illegible]

The year 17[illegible] is memorable in the history [illegible] Henry Knox [illegible] Washington [illegible] Morristown [illegible]

And well did Knox merit this [illegible] of his command [illegible] when Washington needed [illegible] ordnance [illegible] young man of twenty-five years, Mr. Henry Knox [illegible] stepped forward and [illegible] to proceed to the frontier forts on Champlain in quest of a supply, till the end of the war the government [illegible] unswerving support. He was early put in command of the artillery and [illegible] "guns," says Headly, "he never left but kept them belching on the [illegible]

His mind was active, [illegible] and his language correspondent. He could never abandon his soldier-like air. He was large in person, weighing more than Washington, inclined to corpulency, with a full kind face showing an open and generous nature. He had the lungs of a stentor, and tradition says that his voice sounded above the musketry at the battle of Trenton.

By right of his wife by purchase and perhaps by a little diplomacy, Knox became the sole proprietor of the undivided parts of the Waldo Patent. Upon the site of the old fortress at the point where Waymouth planted his cross—a spot now for the third time made historic—he reared a stately mansion whose growth among our primeval forests seemed to the humble villagers like the dazzling magnificence of an oriental tale. A grand chateau with three lofty stories, surmounted by a fourth, central and cupola like in the roof, rose like the palace of Aladdin. There was no seat of such elegance in all the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. Around it were balconies and piazzas, costly grounds, lawns, orchards, arbors. A magnificent carved gateway protected the entrance to the grounds. A broad avenue was opened to the house of his son, through the dense woods. Behind the chateau rose the wild forests with here and there skillfully planned openings, and in front was a view of ten miles of the river and its sombre evergreen banks. On either hand were two wings of buildings forming with the mansion, a crescent or the segment of a circle, nine houses in each wing. Mrs. Knox, on her first sight of this fairy creation when coming up the river, entranced at its beauty, gave it the name of Montpelier.

And in these baronial halls Gen. Knox lived and dispensed hospitality like a prince of the middle ages. It is said that a hundred beds were made, and an ox and twenty sheep often slaughtered within a week. Twenty saddle horses were kept for the entertainment of his guests. Many famous people, including Talleyrand and Louis Philippe, came to visit him. The warmhearted proprietor even invited his predecessors, the whole tribe of the Tarrantines, who feasted upon his bounty so long that he was forced to tell them, "We have had a good visit, but now you had better go home."

While Gen. Knox won high popularity by his affable manners, his ready counsel and liberality to the town, and his generous hospitality, not only to the rich and influential, but also to poor missionaries, wandering exiles and penniless adventurers, Madam Knox never won the affections of the townspeople. It is said she never [illegible] but once made a visit here. Her manners were exclusively reserved and haughty. Her pleasure was to entice Boston friends to make long visits to her mansion in summer, and to give the winter to the gayety and fashion of that city. It was long remembered as a piece of vandalism against her that in the absence of the general [illegible] disliking the view from her windows of such suggestions of death she caused to be destroyed the humble ancient graves of the pioneers [illegible] Washington [illegible] esteemed her as a woman of [illegible] endowments [illegible]

State at Large

Mr. [illegible] Harmon of Portland has [illegible] completed for the use of the State [illegible] muster rolls of the officers and privates in the service of the District of Maine in the war of 1812-14. The list is very complete giving their names, residence, dates of entry and discharge, and [illegible] of every man called into the field or to garrison duty during the second war of Independence. He has been engaged twenty [illegible] years in the task.

Many people still believe in omens. When Mrs. [illegible] out in the country, overturned the salt-cellar a few mornings since, she [illegible] exclaimed, "Something dreadful is going to happen afore night." I know there is! And sure enough something dreadful did happen. A city friend with three children and three trunks arrived in the afternoon to spend the summer with her.

A young man who [illegible] fined in a San Francisco court for kissing his betrothed against her will, didn't break up her engagement and demand the return of rings, pictures and letters. He simply wrote: "Dear Lydia: You'll have to wait now till I can borrow money enough to pay the minister."

Cease Racking the System

With drastic cathartics and hurtful salivants and use that rational and genial recuperant, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the success of which in the eradication of disease and the building up of feeble constitutions has utterly confuted the preposterous medical theorists who insisted on the rationality of depleting the frame in order to restore it to health. Appetite, easy digestion, regular evacuations, a natural flow of bile, are as sure a result of the use of the finest of America's invigorants as increased loss of power and irritation of the system were of the old exhausting method. The new era of medical treatment inaugurated by the Bitters is indeed a happy one for the sick and feeble, for it has not only placed health within their reach, but saved them from the hurtful consequences of an absurd fallacy.

Republican State Convention.

The Republicans of Maine and all others who propose to support the candidate of the Republican party in the pending election, are invited to send delegates to a State Convention, to be held in

GRANITE HALL, AUGUSTA,

Thursday, Aug. 9th, 1877, at 11 A. M.,

for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Governor, to be supported at the September election, and to attend to such other business as may properly come before the Convention.

The basis of representation will be as follows: Each city, town and plantation is entitled to one delegate and one additional delegate for every seventy-five votes given for the Republican candidate for Governor in 1876. A fraction of forty votes over the number which is entitled to one delegate, will be entitled to a delegate. Substitutes can serve only for towns of the county in which they reside.

The Republican State Committee will be in session in the anteroom of the Hall at 10 o'clock the morning of the Convention.

By order of the Republican State Committee.

JAMES G. BLAINE,
Chairman.

J. O. SMITH, Secretary.

THE STATE CONVENTION.

We publish to-day the call for the Republican State Convention to assemble at Augusta on Thursday, August 9th, at 11 A. M. It is the twenty-second annual call that has been issued to the Republicans of Maine since the establishment as a National Party, and the eighteenth that has borne the signature of our distinguished Chairman of the State Committee. To those calls and to the voice of the conventions they assembled, the people of Maine have responded in an unbroken succession of glorious victories which have placed our noble State proudly in the vanguard of the great party of humanity and progress. Through all these years the Republican Party of Maine has been true to the principles which gave it birth, and its victories have signalized its staunchness of purpose and unwavering devotion to the right. It has stood the severest tests ever encountered by any political organization, and throughout a long and costly and bloody war it steadily upheld the banner of the Union and faced the horrors of battle-field and prison-pen rather than abate one jot or one tittle of the doctrines on which the security and perpetuity of our National life depends.

Its principles are vital to-day, and events are daily enforcing the necessity of their uncompromising maintenance. The evils which threatened the Republic at our Party's birth, are looming up again in such threatening guise that neither attempts at self-delusion nor the desire to have done with issues that should have been buried in the grave of the Rebellion, can hide them from our sight. No sane man can fail to perceive the startling inroads that have already been made upon the guarantees established at the close of the war. Scarcely more than a decade has passed since the National triumph was hailed as the pledge of National supremacy, equal political rights and full protection to every citizen of the Union, and already all these sacred pledges have been set at naught, and where the slave-holding Confederacy reared its armed front from 1861 to 1865, we now find a "Solid South," clinging to all the heresies of old, denying the paramount authority of the National Government, with lawless minorities seizing despotic control of the States, and the rights of American citizenship hideously mocked by massacres and assassinations that have become the established political methods of that section.

We see the leaders of the Rebellion controlling one branch of the National Congress, dictating the legislation of the country, defending the dogmas and the atrocities of the Rebellion, arbitrarily crippling the public service, abolishing diplomatic and consular representation abroad and wreaking their revenge upon the National Army and Navy by refusing to provide for their pay or subsistence. And in and through all this the avowed purpose of re-establishing Southern domination in the Government, with lavish indemnity for the losses of war to be taken from the Treasury of the United States in the shape of subsidies, internal improvements and Southern war claims.

The man who stubbornly shuts his eyes to these facts is an idiot, and he who seeing them permits his own good nature to set them at naught, is passively aiding the designs which threaten our National future.

We believe the intelligent Republicans of Maine recognize the serious aspect of the political situation. They are neither suspicious, vindictive nor intolerant, but they are not wont to permit truth and justice to be obscured by plausible phrases and they will not abandon or surrender the trust that has been confided to them by the patriots who preserved the Republic. The Republican Party of Maine has ever been a party of principle and it would not consent to sacrifice principle for policy, even with prospect of advantage, and when policy means compromise and surrender, the Pine Tree State should push her grand old Battle Flag to the front.

We need not stop to discuss whether the present condition of things is attributable to deliberate compounding with wrong or to good intentions misdirected. Personal considerations are insignificant in the face of National danger. That the Government and the loyal people have been placed in the false attitude of humiliating subservience to the lawlessness and arrogance that were but recently organized in rebellion, is too obvious to be questioned. It is for the Republicans of Maine to look to their duty, as inspired by their past record and the palpable and imperative demands of the present and future.

BALD ASSUMPTION.

[From the Concord Monitor.]

The Boston Advertiser begins a criticism on Gov. Chamberlain's Woodstock address in these words:

"It is already apparent that the demonstration at Woodstock this week is not to revolutionize public opinion, at least not in this section of the nation. The courage and ability of Governor Chamberlain's direct attack on the President are conceded. But it has not shaken the judgment of the people that the President's course was, on the whole, the wisest and safest, and that there is better hope of securing good results in standing by him than in antagonizing him."

What can exceed for bald assumption the assertion of an editor whose occupation keeps him from close contact with the masses, that Chamberlain's speech, just issued, and not as yet read by one in twenty, "has not shaken the judgment of the people."—What the people think will be known in due time. Meanwhile, it is the shortest demagogery to assume that the people's assent or dissent has been expressed concerning Chamberlain's speech.

REPUBLICAN SENTIMENTS.

THE IOWA REPUBLICANS.

[From the Machias Republican.]

The Republicans of Iowa have held their State Convention and nominated their candidate for Governor and State officers.—Their resolutions reaffirmed the Cincinnati platform. Two of the resolutions, related to the permanent pacification of the South and protection which the government must afford to all the citizens of the South "irrespective of color." Several attempts were made to induce the Convention to pass resolutions of approval of the Southern policy of the administration, but they failed. The Convention reaffirmed the established principles of the Republican party with an emphasis truly refreshing after hearing so much milk and water talk from those who are fond of yielding every principle of their faith for the vain hope of winning a smile from the arrogant slave drivers of the South. We are glad to see that the sturdy State of Iowa has not forgotten her Republican principles in the great scramble to see who will yield the most implicit obedience to the requirements of the Southern Democrats. This is a present delusion, which we have no doubt in time will pass away.

ONE-SIDED CONCILIATION AND COMPROMISE.

[From the Oxford Democrat.]

We hear and read so much, at present, about conciliating the Southern leaders, that it may be well for us to inquire how these gentlemen themselves look upon the question. To inquire whether what they wish is to be conciliated, or do they wish to remain ugly so long as they cannot entirely have their own way? If we are to compromise with them, how far shall concessions be made by Northern people?

No doubt there are some clear-minded statesmen who wish for peace and prosperity in the South at any cost, but we fear this class is in the minority there, and that minority is also composed of men with little influence. The comments of a South Carolina paper on Gov. Hampton's address at Auburn, published in another column, show how such conciliatory measures are looked upon by the press; and the press can but echo the will of the people. They are ready to be conciliated provided that the concessions are all made upon one side. There must be compromise in order that harmony may prevail; but they wish all these compromises to be made from one side.

If the President and his advisers expect that a Southern administration party will be formed, they have counted without a full knowledge of the subjects they deal with. Every concession made is gladly accepted, and the power obtained by newly acquired positions is carefully treasured. But when Hampton talks of admitting Republicans to places of trust in the South he is read out of his party. This example is but one of many that might be cited, and it serves to illustrate the point in question. As actions are the only indications of feeling, visible to man, we must judge by the conduct of Southern leaders concerning their wishes in this matter. It is plain to an unprejudiced mind, that what the South demands to-day is just what it demanded in all those years which intervened between its first victory in forming the Constitution till the great rebellion, unlimited concessions from the North.

If we are desirous of being in harmony with the South, we shall have to continue to grant requests for more power and greater privileges till the constitutional amendments have been outlawed, and State sovereignty acknowledged.

LOUISIANA.

General G. A. Sheridan, in conversation with Mr. Chapman, a colored citizen of Louisiana, told him "that the colored people were going to be better protected under Nicholls than under Packard, but they would not be allowed to hold office, and must let politics alone." So much for "reconciliation" and "harmony" in the sweet Sugar State. It is the natural result of placing the old Southrons in power again. The right of the colored people to hold office, and to take part in politics, rests upon the same basis that supports the right of the white people to do so. It is a right that is guaranteed by the Constitution, and to forbid its exercise is to rebel against the provisions of the organic law of the Republic. Louisiana did no more, and she did no worse, when she seceded, than she does when she prevents colored men from voting and holding office. Is she to be allowed to secede a second time? Will the General Government refuse to "coerce" her to obedience to the Constitution? It would be a good thing to send General Butler down there once more with proconsular power.—Mr. Hazewell to Boston Traveller.

The subservient frame of mind into which the Boston Journal has fallen in its anxiety to pander to Southern intolerance, is naively exhibited in its remark that "It was a brave thing for Gen. Woodford to go to Mississippi and speak on politics, and that he did it wisely and discreetly is vastly to his credit." We believe the war for liberty, equality and free speech ended in the supposed triumph of those principles some twelve years ago, and yet there is a strong smack of the old slavery regime in the humble remark of a Boston paper that "it was a brave thing" for a Northern citizen to open his mouth "on politics" in a "reconstructed" State of this Union, and that it was "vastly to his credit" that he was so wise and discreet as to say nothing that might offend the high-toned people who shield and sustain the butchers of the Chisolm family. "I'm so very 'umble."

The New Orleans Democrat argues that the future welfare and political quiet of Louisiana depend on the adoption of a vigorously aggressive policy toward those who have been for eight years in control of State politics. It therefore urges the vigorous prosecution of the members of the Returning Board, and incidentally of all Republicans. This is the way the Southern policy works. It inspires the Democrats to be vigorously aggressive, while it discourages and demoralizes the Southern Republicans.—Inter-Ocean.

The Portland Advertiser now prints a portion of Senator Blaine's speech and the text simply confirms our statement that "there is not a word of it that affords the slightest shadow of a basis for such a slander" as the Advertiser's assertion that he "arraigned the Administration for ordering Gen. Ord to protect the citizens of Texas." But it goes on arguing in support of its untruth, after its peculiar fashion, apparently conceiving that its readers have not sense enough to understand what they read.

B. H. Hinds, Esq., who has been eight years at Portland as Special Agent of the Treasury Department, has been promoted to be chief of the Chicago district. His many friends in Maine will be pleased at this recognition of his services, but will regret his removal from the State.

Murat Halstead, of the Cincinnati Commercial, who joined the Democratic party in 1872 and after being soundly thrashed in the attempt to destroy the Republican party has just sneaked back into its fold, expresses anxiety for a conflict that will throw "the machine politicians of the Republican party into the opposition." Halstead is largely made up of what Westerners call "cheek" and his assumption of superior Republicanism is the ideality of impudence.

A Boston Globe special says "President Hayes' Southern policy and Peter Cooper's financial doctrines are popular in Mississippi!"

THE LOUISIANA HODGE-PODGE.

According to Washington despatches the Administration is beginning to perceive the beautifully muddled condition into which "policy" has brought the political affairs of Louisiana. The Journal's special says the Senate Committee on Elections will maintain its position in favor of admitting Kellogg to his seat, and that Geo. F. Hoar takes the position "that it is enough for the Senate to know that the then Legislature was legal." If that Legislature was legal enough to elect a U. S. Senator, and that Senator is to be seated on a certificate signed by Governor Packard, it is hard to figure out how that Legislature and Governor could become afterwards illegal as concerns the authority of the State. The Journal's special tries to wrestle with the problem as follows:

The publication of the fact that the Senate Committee on Privileges and Elections agreed previous to adjournment by a strict party vote to report in favor of seating Kellogg will enter at once into the controversy concerning the violation of faith which is charged on the Nicholls men in the indictment of the Returning Board. A report in favor of Kellogg is of course equivalent to the rejection of Spofford, and in one sense of the action of the Nicholls Legislature. But Republicans will claim that the legality of this Legislature is not of necessity repudiated, but that it had simply elected elected a Senator where no vacancy occurred.

Here again we have assertion of "violation of faith" and in another paragraph the writer adds that "Gen. Brown, of Tennessee, a member of the Louisiana Commission" called upon the President and denounced the indictment proceedings as "a gross violation of pledges." So there was a bargain with the Nicholls White League faction for the overthrow of the "then legal" Government of Louisiana! And the Administration comes to confession by complaining that it was cheated in the bargain.

"REFORM" ORGANS.

[From the Lowell Courier.]

The Nation should bear in mind that it was the "wicked partners" of the Republican party, the politicians, that controlled the Iowa Convention,—not the party itself.—Boston Transcript.

What the Transcript really means is that the majority of the Iowa Republicans are of a different sort of "politicians" from the Transcript itself. There is a pur-blindness among some men which sees a "politician" in everybody who don't measure with their yard-stick, and a "machine" in every other organization but their own. The time is coming when these chaps will wake up to a realizing sense that they don't comprehend the whole situation.

It is a great comfort to the high-toned reform organs that whatever verdict may be pronounced against the Returning Board it cannot affect the title of President Hayes. We have no fears that any fair trial will result in any verdict against the Returning Board. But if it should, a journal which makes such claims to political morality and good faith and which intimated very broadly that the Returning Board can't get more punishment than it deserves, ought to be ashamed to teach the doctrine that what is is right because it is. There is hardly a reform organ which has expressed an opinion so far, but has rather boasted that it is a dishonest rascal.

Ben. Hill, of Georgia, whom Senator Blaine laid out so handsomely a year and a half ago, has been heard from. He thinks that "the Woodstock speeches simply indicate what I did not doubt—that the politicians who desire to keep alive sectional passions and antagonisms for their own personal advantage will make war on the Administration. As against such assailants it is the plain duty of all patriots to sustain the Administration." Evidently Ben has not recovered his equanimity.—When we see him supporting President Hayes by acts we may take some stock in his patriotic professions.—Lewiston Journal.

The Burlington Hawkeye blandly remarks: "The New York Tribune thinks the President is liable to fall between two stools. He is more liable to go over between two fools, one of which is Stanley Matthews."

Whenever the Boston Journal can find anything in the Lewiston Journal that suits its purpose, it immediately quotes it, always taking pains to remark that the paper is edited by an ex-Governor and very influential. Here is an editorial paragraph from the Lewiston paper which the Boston paper does not find it convenient to quote:

"That Senator Blaine knew what he was talking about at Woodstock becomes more and more apparent. There is no doubt there is an organized purpose to secure subsidies for southern improvements, and to precipitate a conflict with Mexico. It is clear, however, that President Hayes is opposed to such projects as these. None the less important is it that the people of the country should exercise here, as in other regards, that vigilance which is ever the price of safety and economy as well as liberty."

The following special to the Boston Advertiser shows the tests that are applied in the "conciliated" South:

"A delegation from Texas are here urging the removal of United States Marshal Purnell. They had an interview with Attorney General Devens to-day. The only objection to Purnell is that he is a stanch Republican and not a native of the State, but an ex-army officer."

The Boston Globe sadly admits that "Blaine acts like a galvanic battery on the war-horse of the South, causing him to snort and prance and talk very large, after the manner of this paragraph in the Richmond Dispatch":

Blaine may howl, but he cannot stay the wheels of the chariot of time. The past is gone; the future is before us. The South and West will rule this fair land—not "forever" so far as we know, but for many years. British America will not be annexed. The Texas Pacific road will be built. A slice of Mexico may be taken off for our use. New England can never again regain her baneful influence in the councils of the nation. "Blow, Blaine, and crack your cheeks!" the South laughs at your calamity; and mocks now that your fear cometh.

HARRISON'S PERISTALTIC LOZENGES.

A POSITIVE CURE FOR

Costiveness, Dyspepsia, Piles,

Oppression after Eating, Headache, Dizziness,

For thirty years these Lozenges have retained the confidence of the Medical Profession and the public generally, in spite of all competitors or imitators. They are the most effectual remedy for HABITUAL COSTIVENESS and its results, viz: Piles, Indigestion, Headache, Dizziness, Languor, Oppression of Food, Heartburn, Flatulence, Bad Taste in the mouth, Torpid Liver, &c., &c.

Females who cannot endure strong purgatives find these Lozenges admirably suited to the many complaints incident to their sex, by restoring nature and preventing periodical pains and obstructions. They are also just the thing for children suffering with worms, being a sure cure, and as agreeable to take as the most pleasant confection.

Travellers find the Lozenges just what they need, as they are so compact and inodorous that they may be carried in the vest pocket, and as an aperient or laxative they are unequalled.

Testimony of a Boston Merchant.

COMMISSIONERS OF PHARMACY. During the last two days the Commissioners of Pharmacy for the State of Maine have held the fifth meeting of the Board at the Falmouth Hotel, Portland. Thirty applications for registration were received and acted upon. Twenty four certificates were ordered to be issued, seven after due examination of the candidates in chemistry, pharmacy, etc., and seventeen on evidence of competent management of shops already established, certificats of physicians and other satisfactory testimonials. Among the candidates whose testimonials were entirely satisfactory was one lady, who is successfully conducting a business left her by her father. The examinations increase in interest at every meeting, and the Commissioners are much pleased with the evidence of careful study and general competency shown by many of the younger candidates. The law is already having a good effect in stimulating apprentices and clerks to more diligent study of the text books and of the science of their profession, and if sustained and improved from time to time must result in giving the State a well-trained body of skillful apothecaries, in whose hands physicians and patients will fare better than has been the case in some localities hitherto. The Commissioners adjourned to attend the meeting of the State Pharmaceutical Association, called for yesterday morning at the Falmouth at 9 o'clock, and they in turn adjourned to give members an opportunity to join the other druggists of the State on the excursion provided for them by the trade of Portland. Altogether it is a very busy week for our friends of the pestle and mortar, and there is no doubt they will return to their places of business with renewed pride in their profession and determination to vindicate its rights to recognition as useful to the people and worthy of a higher standing than some of our legislation implies.

Stover, Bucksport. A 25c bottle will convince you of its merits. Don't delay another hour after reading this, but go and get a bottle and your relief is as certain as you live. Will you do it or will you continue to suffer? Think for yourself.

Prof. Parker's Pleasant Worm Syrup is perfectly safe and extremely palatable. No physic required. Costs 25 cents. Try it.

It requires no puffing [illegible] results of its use are its best recommendations, and the proprietor has ample evidence on file of its extraordinary success in pulmonary complaints. VEGETINE.

"HE SAYS IT IS TRUE."

SENECA FALLS, Nov. 3, 1876.

MR. H. R. STEVENS:

Dear Sir,—As you are an entire stranger to me, I want you to know what Vegetine has done for me. Only those who have been raised from death's door can know the value of such a good medicine. I am 58 years of age. Three years ago I was taken sick with what the doctors called Lumbago. For weeks I was confined to my bed. I had three different physicians, without any help. I received no relief, I was a great sufferer, finally I became entirely helpless. The last doctor told me there was no help; he said he might possibly save my life by injecting morphine in my arms and legs. The encouragement for saving my life by having this done was so small a chance I could not consent to run the risk. About this time my son read your advertisement in our paper, a testimony of a person who had been very sick with about the same complaint, and was cured. My son went right away to the apothecary store and bought a bottle of Vegetine. Before I had used the first bottle I found great relief, I could move myself in bed. After taking three bottles I was able to sit up and move about my room. I continued taking the Vegetine, and I was in a few weeks restored to my former health. The Vegetine saved my life after the physicians said there was no help for me. I have had no doctor since. If I feel unwell I take a dose of Vegetine, and I recommend it to my friends.

Your Vegetine ought to be in every family. My doctor was surprised to see me in good health. He says, "Vegetine is a good medicine." I tell him it cured me. He says, "It is true." I cannot feel too thankful. Very gratefully yours,

MRS. CATHERINE COONS,
Seneca Falls, Seneca County, N. Y.

Vegetine.

ALL DISEASES OF THE BLOOD.

If VEGETINE will relieve pain, cleanse, purify, and cure such diseases, restoring the patient to perfect health after trying different physicians, many remedies, suffering for years, is it not conclusive proof, if you are a sufferer, you can be cured? Why is this medicine performing such great cures? It works in the blood, in the circulating fluid. It can truly be called the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER. The great source of disease originates in the blood, and no medicine that does not act directly upon it, to purify and renovate, has any just claim upon public attention.

Vegetine

WILL CURE CANKER HUMOR.

ROCKPORT, Mass., March 21, 1876.

H. R. STEVENS:—

Sir,—Last fall my husband got me two bottles of your Vegetine to take for the Canker Humor, which I have had in my stomach for several years. I took it and the result was very satisfactory. I have taken a good many remedies for the Canker Humor, and none seemed to help me but Vegetine. There is no doubt in my mind that every one suffering with Canker Humor can be cured by taking Vegetine. It gave me a good appetite, and I feel better than ever.

Yours, with respect,
MRS. ELIZA ANN POOLE.

Vegetine.

NOTHING EQUAL TO IT.

SOUTH SALEM, Mass., Nov. 14, 1876.

MR. H. R. STEVENS:—

Dear Sir,—I have been troubled with Scrofula, Canker and Liver Complaint for three years; nothing ever did me any good until I commenced using the Vegetine. I am now getting along first-rate, and still using the Vegetine. I consider there is nothing equal to it for such complaints. Can heartily recommend it to everybody.

Yours truly, MRS. LIZZIE M. PACKARD,
No. 16 Lagrange street, South Salem, Mass.

VEGETINE thoroughly eradicates every kind of Humor, and restores the entire system to a healthy condition.

Besides serial stories, Christmas stories, lively sketches, poems and pictures for the holidays, and some astonishing illustrations of Oriental sports, with drawings by Siamese artists, the Christmas Holiday Number of St. Nicholas, superbly illustrated, contains a very interesting paper,

"THE BOYS OF MY BOYHOOD," by William Cullen Bryant.

"TWELVE SKY PICTURES," by Professor Proctor, the Astronomer, with maps, showing "The Stars of Each Month," which will be likely to surpass in interest any series on popular science recently given to the public.

AMUSEMENT AND INSTRUCTION, with FUN AND FROLIC, and WIT AND WISDOM, will be mingled as heretofore, and ST. NICHOLAS will continue to delight the young and give pleasure to the old.

THE LONDON LITERARY WORLD says,

"There is no magazine for the young that can be said to equal this choice production of SCRIBNER'S Press. All the articles, whether in prose or rhyme, are throbbing with vitality. * * * The literature and artistic illustrations are both superb."

To the Honorable Judge of Probate for the County of Penobscot:

The undersigned, administratrix of the estate of Jonathan C. Brooks, late of Charleston, in said county, deceased, respectfully represents that the goods and chattels, rights and credits of said deceased are not sufficient to pay his just debts and charges of administration, by about eight hundred dollars.

Wherefore your petitioner prays your Honor to grant her a license to sell, at public or private sale, and convey all the homestead of the deceased and the parcel adjoining or opposite, called the Champion lot, as the residue would be greatly depreciated by the sale of any entire portion, of the real estate of the deceased (including the reversion of the widow's dower therein), to satisfy said debts, expenses of sale, and charges of administration.

Said real estate is the same described in deeds recorded in the Registry of Deeds of said County.

LETTER CARRIERS.

All letters are delivered free by carriers when addressed to street and number. People should inform their correspondents of above and have their letters addressed accordingly.

Persons leaving their address at the General Delivery can also have their letters sent, but it is much more convenient to have the street and number on, and they will be delivered earlier than if this is to be put on at the office. Carriers make two deliveries daily, the first trip supplying the extremes of their routes.

Collections are made morning and evening in season for important mails—the down town boxes fifteen and the up town boxes thirty minutes before closing mails at the office.

Holidays the Carrier's Window will be open for the delivery of letters from 8½ to 9½ A. M., and from 3 to 4½ P. M. Sundays from 8½ to 9½ A. M.

Any irregularities in the Carriers' department should be reported to the office.

ENVELOPES.

No additional charge will be made for printing the name and request to return, across the left end upper corner of the envelopes furnished by the Post Office Department, (samples of which may be seen at the Cashier's window,) when ordered in lots of not less than 500.

A request for the return of a letter to the writer, if unclaimed within thirty days, or less, written or printed, with the writer's name, post office and State, across the left end of the envelope, on the face side, will be complied with.

The public are earnestly recommended to procure Stamped Envelopes with printed return request, as the expense is less, and letters thus endorsed, if not delivered to the person addressed, are returned to the writer free of charge.

First class envelopes of above furnished at $22 80 per thousand.

Stamps cut from Stamped Envelopes cannot be used to prepay postage. The use of such Stamps is punishable by a fine of fifty dollars.

Stamped Envelopes, spoiled in directing, are redeemed at this office.
